SUSTAINABLE DEVELOPMENT GOALS

14 LIFE BELOW WATER

SGT University contributes to the conservation of aquatic environments through research on water pollution and conservation. The university conducts studies on the impact of pollutants on water bodies, focusing on improving water quality in local rivers and lakes. By raising awareness about the effects of water pollution and promoting sustainable water management practices, SGT supports efforts to protect aquatic ecosystems. Educational initiatives encourage students to engage in projects that focus on water conservation, aligning with SDG 14 to protect life below water and ensure sustainable use of aquatic resources.
